The Mylne Design List - June 2015

The following list outlines the extensive collection of designs contained within the Mylne Archive. The recorded Mylne Design List rather strangely starts at design No 11. This is for a Fin and Bulb keel Rater with separate rudder, the original model of which is proudly displayed in the Mylne office in Limekilns, Fife. Our work since 2007 has provided a fascinating journey through time cataloguing the works of A. Mylne & Co. We are pleased to now share this summary of our findings with you. The data is extracted from the 7,000+ drawings in the archive which we have digitised, catalogued and carefully stored, preserving this yachting heritage for future generations. Yacht designs range in size from under 20ft to over 120ft, motor and sail.

The Design List is presented in two sections

- Design number order
- Length on Waterline order

The data below represents the original design configuration and does not reflect changes made to individual yachts such as rig changes and hull adjustments. Those designs whose number is given as "1" are Mylne designs which don't have a specific Mylne Design number for whatever reason. Design Numbers above 405 tended to be attributable to Alfred Mylne II, and those designs drawn after 1959 increasingly bear the hall mark of the talented Ian Nicolson. Designs numbered 900+ are those of TC Glen-Coats, apprentice to Mylne and a gifted yacht designer in the Mylne office who concentrated on Metre Class yachts. Those numbered 1000+ are an assortment drawings found within the archive which are not Mylne designs, but which presumably required input at sometime from the Mylne Office.

In 2015 we began the task of making all these designs available to view and buy directly online. You can find out more at www.mylne.com/archive

The Mylne Design List - by Length

The Designs contained within the Mylne archive are presented sorted by Length on the Waterline, the traditional measure of length used by Mylne and his contemporaries at the time. Where the Waterline length has been omitted from our database, or is otherwise not known, the entry for that design is not shown here.
